

SECEDE HOPE OF SOCIALIST PARTY

Upon Record of Milwaukee's Mayor Depends Its Growth or Retrogression.

VIEW OF EXECUTIVE EXPRESSED IN INTERVIEW

Would Make Children Happy and Healthy First of All, and Keep City Clean.

By Leased Wire to The Tribune.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 16.—Mayor Emil Seidel, the first mayor in the United States to be elected the executive head of a first-class city upon the Socialist ticket, bears upon his shoulders a burden which will either set Socialism ahead a score of years in America, or retard it for that length of time. He believes that Mayor Gaynor, the chief executive of New York City, the biggest and most important municipality of the western hemisphere, is also a Socialist at heart, although he would not admit it. Yet, I dare say, he considers himself one of the most conservative executives in America.

BY MAYOR SEIDEL.

Lots of people have a mistaken idea of Socialism. They think that all leaders of this party should rant and rave and attempt some kind of revolution. This is nonsense of the rankest kind. For instance, Mayor Gaynor of New York is a Socialist at heart, although he would not admit it. Yet, I dare say, he considers himself one of the most conservative executives in America.

Gaynor's Good Work.

To my mind, one of the biggest things Mayor Gaynor has accomplished is the abolition of the useless combinations that eat up the people's money without doing them any good. I wish I could reform the Milwaukee police force the way Mayor Gaynor has reformed the New York police force, in fact, Socialism as I am, Mayor Gaynor has done many things which I intend to imitate in my city if I can.

When I get out of the mayor's chair, I would rather have it said of me that Emil Seidel was the children's friend, that he had made children happy and beautiful and tried to give them a good start in life, than I would be called the greatest mayor in America.

Some of His Wants.

I want to see home rule for Milwaukee. I want to see every man, woman and child protected. I want to see the property of every household and corporation protected. I want to see public officers get decent pay and I want the city to get every cent that is coming to it. We are not running this city for any one class of people. The best man gets the job, but no matter what party he is affiliated with. One of my experts dug up an old ordinance which gave the city authority to enforce all health ordinances against public utility companies as well as against private corporations. The rest was easy. We just put policemen around our barns and would not allow a street car to be taken out until it had been cleaned out. A list of saloons against which complaints had been made were carefully kept. Every arrest has been recorded, every violation of the state or city ordinance has been put down.

When the proprietors of these places have applied for a license, and their respective licenses the license committee has refused to grant the necessary permit. In this way more than one hundred saloons have been closed.

This has been a marvelous lifting effect on other places where liquor has been sold and today no city in the country can boast of such orderly saloons as Milwaukee.

For Personal Liberty.

I believe in personal liberty. I believe that the saloon, when properly conducted, is a benefit rather than a detriment. It affords a place of amusement and relaxation from the cares and worries of every-day life. Here, in Milwaukee, some of our saloons furnish really classic music. Nearly all of them furnish cheap and good food. They may be really called the "poor man's club."

I want to see Milwaukee and every other city in America adopt some uniform style of opening up new territory where the people can live and grow and keep healthy. My idea is for the city to buy all new lands, plant them and put them on the market. You may think this is utopian, but I tell you, sir, nothing is more practical.

The city of Milwaukee is not afraid of any corporation, no matter how big it is and what will get more money than the street car company, the city and I. We have a lot of fun making them clean up their cars and making them properly heat and ventilate them, but we have succeeded and now our street cars are no longer germ-laden.

GOVERNMENT ATTORNEYS CAN TAKE A BACK SEAT

By Leased Wire to The Tribune.

CHICAGO, July 16.—Two United States attorneys, one with a national reputation, have been banished completely from any participation in the latest investigation of the so-called beef trust which is now in the charge of the federal grand jury.

The two men are United States District Attorney Edwin W. Sims and Assistant Attorney General Oliver E. Pagan, the government's expert indictment writer. Both were deeply interested in the last beef trust case indictment, drawn by Pagan on evidence furnished by Sims, which was thrown out by Judge Landis. In the present situation their absolute elimination from the case is without precedent.

The situation is so critical that Judge Landis was on the verge of naming a special attorney to handle both the beef and oleomargarine investigations. The situation was saved by the appearance of Assistant Attorney General Kenyon in Chicago. He, with Special District Attorney James H. Wilkerson, had assumed complete charge of both investigations.

The lid has been placed on this investigation by the news of the information is to be made public until indictments are returned. No statements will be given out each day.

The grand jury will be called Monday and witnesses will be called under a full heat of steam. The grand jury will hold its session in Judge Landis's court room.

EXODUS TO EUROPE SOMETHING GREAT

Unusually Large Number of Americans Spending Vacation Across the Pond.

By Leased Wire to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, July 16.—The backbone of the season's tremendous exodus to Europe is broken.

When the New York, of the American line, the Celtic, of the White Star line, the Ancona, of the Italian line, the Cincinnati, of the Hamburg American line, the Bremen, of the Ancho line, the Minneapolis, of the Atlantic Transport line, and the Lapland, of the Red Star line, left their piers during the crest of the eastward migration that passed. Never in the history of shipping has there been such a year for the trans-Atlantic liners. World's records for carrying people have been broken and the big vessels of every available company have passed previous marks.

The Lusitania, of the Cunard line, with 983 cabin passengers stowed away between her decks carried off the palm for the world's largest passenger liner, exceeding the previous mark of 981, which she brought westward on her maiden trip.

Early in the year the rush eastward commenced, and since then so many thousands seeking foreign shores in the Passion Play at Oberammergau. This occurs only once in every ten years, and a great many plan ears ahead to attend it. To this may be ascribed the early rush.

"Since the terribly hot weather has come to New York, this has been another incentive to European travel, for reports from the other side state constantly that unusually cool weather has been experienced there."

WHITE WOMAN CLAIMS TO BE JOHNSON'S WIFE

By Leased Wire to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, July 16.—A comely young white woman, who says her maiden name was Hattie McCray, arrived in this city from Philadelphia today with the avowed intention of bringing divorce proceedings against Jack Johnson, the negro heavyweight champion boxer. McCray, who says she married him three years ago and that there has never been a separation, is now being held at the Albany hotel, where George Little, the former manager of the pugilist, is also stopping. The woman claims that Johnson, who is now in the Northern Pacific, is a Philadelphia café. They went to Atlantic City and lived there as man and wife. Later, they went to Boston and were married. The alleged wife says Johnson took their marriage license away from him when he went to Australia to fight Tommy Burns. The marriage, she says, was performed by a justice of the peace in Boston, September 28, 1907.

Secretary of Treasury Plans Forming Currency Associations

By Associated Press.

BULIN, N. H., July 16.—A statement favoring the formation of currency associations by national banks under the Aldrich-Vreeland law of May 30, 1908, was given out tonight by Secretary of the Treasury Franklin MacVeagh at his summer home here.

After explaining that the law provides for the issuance of additional banknotes in time of emergency, either by individual banks upon deposit of proper security with the government and payment of interest on such notes of 5 per cent for the first month and 10 per cent additional for each succeeding month up to ten; or by the organization of ten or more national banks having a capital of five million dollars, the secretary said:

"It has been my feeling for some time back that the first impulse of the national banks immediately after the passage of the Aldrich-Vreeland bill was the correct one. That impulse was to organize into national currency associations provided for in the act. The effect was to interpret the authorization of the Aldrich-Vreeland act as something that should not await an emergency but should be adopted when the financial atmosphere was perfectly clear."

Details of Plan.

"Now, that impulse toward the formation of the national currency associations was general throughout the country. However, when the formation of only one national currency association, to wit:

"The one in Washington, D. C. The reason why this movement halted at the time was that the banks encountered difficulties in the law one of which was that there would be no provision for the withdrawal of a bank after it had joined the association. While the matter was being considered in the treasury department and before it became evident that the objections found by the banks could and would be overcome the impulse passed away and interest turned to general banking and currency reform."

"It is true, of course, that the Aldrich-Vreeland bill was only meant to operate ad interim until a reform banking and currency system should be formed. This reform seemed imminent and so the interest in the national currency association was allowed to diminish. I have felt that this movement should be revived. While I am very hopeful of an ultimate and not too long deferred reform of our banking and currency systems, that reform is not as imminent as we hoped it would be at this time. I have thought that the intention of the Aldrich-Vreeland bills should be carried out, and that its powers should be organized for the interval before the passage of a bill permanently reforming the banking and currency system. I have felt that this is a favorable time."

Benefits Anticipated.

"I therefore recommended some time ago the formation of these associations to some of the national bankers, including a committee of the American Bankers' association, who came to Washington to confer on other treasury matters. My own view of the national associations is that they should be formed

ROUGH TEACHING FARMERS LESSON

Must Expect That Cycle of Dry Weather Will Return at Intervals.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—The drought from which the west is now suffering only verifies what many agriculturists have expected for a long time, said Acting Secretary Hays of the department of agriculture today.

"Many of us, knowing that the west had suffered from cycles of drought, believed that these cycles would again hamper the farmers there, but the period of many years during which rainfall has been regular caused them to forget the real reality of the fact that they had suffered from cycles of drought," continued Mr. Hays, who was a farmer in Minnesota before becoming assistant secretary of agriculture, and who is especially familiar with the wheat country of the northwest.

"Real estate boomers have sought to minimize the danger from drought in the west and they have talked that way for so many years during which the rainfall has been regular that many came to believe that there was no longer danger of that kind for their crops. They are seeing it now."

"The present drought is really a much better country than many agriculturists believed, but we faced the fact that these cycles of drought will recur and farmers must finance their farms in such a conservative way that they have surplus money with which to face these periods of non-productiveness."

"In good years in the new sections of the west the farmer's profit has been large, in some cases so great as to permit him to pay for his land in a single year. In the long run they will obtain satisfactory returns, but they must face the situation as it is and come to look upon the cycle of drought as one of the recurring conditions."

HANDLING DIRIGIBLE UNDER WAR CONDITIONS

By Associated Press.

METZ, Germany, July 16.—Dirigible balloon maneuvers under war conditions were begun today upon an extensive scale here. The Zeppelin I, ascended at 6 o'clock this morning and made a reconnaissance in the direction of Diedenhoven for the purpose of observing the military maneuvers being conducted there without placing the airship within range of the enemy's fire. The officers of the balloon were ordered to report their observations at headquarters. The round trip to Diedenhoven is about forty miles and was to occupy about eight hours.

In addition to the military crew of ten, the Zeppelin I carried the crew of Metz and several field officers. The other dirigible balloons, the Parseval and the Gross, also participated in the maneuvers.

Owing to the recent accident to the Deutschland and the Erbehohe, the officers have decided always to obtain information of the weather prospects from the observatory before ascending.

MISSOULA, Mont., July 16.—The forest fire conditions in western Montana are greatly improved tonight. The local forestry officials have received reports that the fires in the Kootenai forest are much less dangerous than yesterday, that all of the fires in that district are under control.

In the Coeur d'Alene forest nine fires are burning and conditions are serious enough to prevent the supervisors from sending any of his men to help the Flathead reservation authorities in fighting the fire near Shelly on the line of the Northern Pacific.

District Forester Greeley received telegraphic information today from the Great Northern offices in St. Paul that extra men had been sent out from that place to be used in fighting fire.

CONFLAGRATION RAISES ADMINISTRATIVE PROBLEM

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—A peculiar administrative problem has arisen in connection with the park. It was created on May 11 and as a national park, it was placed under the jurisdiction of the interior department. Congress made no appropriation for the new establishment until June 30, when $15,000 was allotted for its improvement and the construction of roads and trails.

No provision was made for the park's maintenance and protection. By mutual agreement between the interior and agricultural departments, a forest service has patrolled the reservation since its creation as a national park. The interior department's present emergency, the forest service will fight the fires which are eating the timber.

While the appropriation does not specifically provide for the maintenance of the park, it is assumed that a superintendent and necessary forces can be appointed under the head of "improvements."

JEFFRIES MAY FIGHT IF HE RECOVERS NERVE

By Associated Press.

AVAILON, Cal., July 16.—James J. Jeffries, who arrived here this evening, spoke more to the point in regard to a suggestion of a second match with Jack Johnson than he has since the defeat at Reno, July 4. When asked directly if he would fight again, Jeffries said:

"I shall be able to tell better after I have seen what you can do for me at Avallon. I am not saying anything at all, but two or three big fish a day may revive my spirits considerably."

In the Jeffries party are Mrs. Jeffries, Mr. and Mrs. Tex Rickard. They will remain a week.

PRETTY HARD LINES FOR TAKER OF BRIBES

By Associated Press.

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 16.—Former Councilman M. L. Swift, Jr., who was described by counsel as only 26 years old, with wife and family dependent on his wages of $15 a week, was fined $100 and sentenced by Judge Fraser today to eight months in the county jail for accepting bribes for his votes on two municipal ordinances. An appeal will be taken. D. E. F. Blessing, president of the common council, who was convicted on two charges of bribery, was granted a new trial today.

MRS. TOM THUMB IS YOUNG AT EIGHTY

World-Famous Midget Still Travels Extensively and Enjoys Excitement.

By Leased Wire to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, July 16.—Countess M. Lavinia Magri, the midget wife of Tom Thumb, the dwarf, who made P. T. Barnum famous, has just arrived from Europe. Mrs. Thumb is very small and very lively. Despite her 80 years she is as spry as a juvenile cricket, and quite girlish in appearance. She says travel has kept her young.

Few persons who saw the "smallest woman on earth" in Barnum's day, are aware that she still lives. Her home, when she is there, is at Middlesex, Mass., but she is seldom at home. She is either in London or Paris or San Francisco, or even in the far away Orient most of the time.

A generation or so ago this little woman made triumphal tours and in Europe she was feted by the nobility. Although I am small in stature, more than one Atlantic liner captain has congratulated me on my sailing ability. I have been across the Atlantic sixty times and I expect to take many more trips before I die. I love the excitement of travel. It keeps me feeling like a girl."

The countess hasn't a gray hair in her head. She is vivacious and full of laughter. Asked if she favored suffrage, she shook her head and her brown curls bobbed and made a decided sign in the negative.
